THE HELENA (Montana) Herald, with fine sarcasm, observes that the scales used for weighing gold in the assay offices are so delicate that the "soul of a man who always borrows the paper he reads can be weighed on them." Are there any such souls here?

Edison has among his exhibits at the electric show in Paris, a one-horse power engine operating nine improved lamps, each of which is to burn nine months. Edison also proposes to show his autographic system of telegraphy, by which he produces by telegraph fac-similes of handwriting.

THE REPORT comes from Arizona of a second Ooster affair. Gen. Carr, seven of his officers and his entire command of 100 men, being massacred by White Mountain Apaches. The story seems almost too horrible to be true, and as the only information so far received comes through Indian runners, it is hoped that later news will put a less shocking phase upon the tale. It seems that a company of Indian scouts turned against Carr's command, other Indians coming in to finish the bloody work. Fort Apache, garrisoned by a small force, has been assaulted by the murderous redskins who were repulsed. Troops are being dispatched in pursuit of the Indians, but the available force seems entirely inadequate to cope with the enemy. The sort of running warfare that has been going on in New Mexico and Arizona, and along the Mexican border for the past three months, seems now to have assumed a character which ought to settle the question of who shall rule that region, the Apaches or whites. There should be no more fooling with the business on the part of the government. The history of the Apaches in their connection with the whites has been a record of trickery, theft and massacre, and the time has come for taking away their power to raid, steal and murder at will.

THE PRESIDENT.

It can hardly be said that the reports from the Executive Mansion this morning are full of hope. The President yet lives, it is true, and he seems to be in no worse condition than on the previous day; at the same time it is not claimed that he has gained anything. This "standing still" for a man in his critical situation cannot be regarded otherwise than ominous. The surgeons have finally concluded to remove the President from the capital, and will take him to Long Branch. After the stubborn opposition to his removal from the malaria which has undoubtedly injuriously affected him, the resolution to carry him away has the appearance of heroic treatment; in other words, it looks as if the surgeons realize that death is certain if he remains, while the change may prove beneficial.

SEWERS.

Every summer season, with its evers, its increase of sickness and its lengthened death lists, reminds the people of Salt Lake with greater force than its predecessor had done that we must not confine the sewer question to talk, but solve it by work. The community will approach the beginning with fear and trembling. The undertaking is one to alarm taxpayers. The more they think of the matter the greater is their dread of making a start in the work that must take thousands after thousands of dollars from their pockets, and continue a thing of vast expense during this generation at least. When the waterworks were undertaken the cost was to be much less than has been put into them, and yet the money was expended economically and the work honestly and intelligently performed. If the waterworks were an expensive necessity, what must be the cost of a sewerage that will be anything like beneficial generally? The wide streets and scattered houses are pretty to look upon, but the beauty and airiness have to be paid for in water mains, gas pipes and sewers. It would cost more to effectively sewer Salt Lake City than to drain any other city in the United States containing twice the population of this place. And yet the improvement is as necessary here as elsewhere. It is demanded in every month's mortality report, and in the constantly recurring doctors' bills. The accumulated filth of a third of a century is festering in back yards, in the gutters and on the streets, breeding disease and death. It is true they are afflicted by diphtheria and scarletina and filth fevers generally, in cities possessing quite thorough systems of sewerage, but this fact does not destroy the truth of the assertion that a percentage of the deaths in Salt Lake is unquestionably due to the want of drainage to carry off the slops and filth, taking their offensive odors and seeds of disease beyond local contact with the masses. We are aware that a movement to properly drain the city would be met by a formidable opposition by those who would necessarily have to bear the burden of the cost; but this opposition ought not to be permitted to destroy the healthfulness of the city, or interfere with its growth and desirableness as a place of residence. The HERALD is not in favor of going too fast or undertaking too much in this matter. We never want to see Salt Lake burdened with a heavy debt that will weigh like a mortgage upon the place; at the same time we are in favor of making a start towards draining the city, and of progressing with the work as rapidly as possible without grievously oppressing anybody or increasing obligations that it will be difficult to meet. If there is any improvement for which the property owners ought to willingly submit to an increase of taxation, it should be sewerage, for with good drainage the value of a house is greatly enhanced, and the value of the city generally will increase more than the cost of the sewers.

The HERALD would like an expression of public opinion as to the desirableness of beginning the work, and would also be glad to publish what doctors and sanitarians have to say on the subject, as well as intelligent estimates as to the probable cost.

How to Get Sick.

Expose yourself day and night, eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know

How to Get Well.

What is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters! See other column.

Help for Hebrews.

London, 3.—A Constantinople correspondent says, Germans and Englishmen are interested in the welfare of Jews settlement on a grant of land in Syria, from the ports, for allotment to Jews desiring to emigrate from countries where they are most subject to persecution. A delegate is now here trying to secure the parties' approval. The Sultan favors the scheme.

Fair Trade.

London 3.—The result of the parliamentary election, by which T. Lowther, Conservative, was returned by the fair trade agitation, has increased the prominence of the question. The Morning Post hails the triumph for fair trade principles.

The Careless Orchestra.

The Careless Orchestra, to-morrow evening, gives its concert, and the indications are for an entertainment of the most pleasing character, and the attendance is likely to be all that could be desired. We have referred to it before, and need make no further explanations. No commendation from us would help the matter, as the merits of the orchestra are widely known and fully appreciated. We simply give the programme, and the public will attend after reading it:

PART I.

- 1—Overture, "Romantic" Keler Bela ORCHESTRA.
- 2—Flute Solo, Fantasy, "Sleep Well," Mr. Geo. HEIZER Muller.
- 3—Waltz, "On the Beautiful Hudson," ..... Bial ORCHESTRA.
- 4—Cavatina "Even Bravest Heart," (From Faust), Gounod Mr. B. B. Young.
- 5—Grand Vocal Selection, (Faust) ..... Gounod Miss EDITH LAWSON, Full Chorus and Orchestra.

PART II.

- 6—Overture, "Guy Rannering," Bishop ORCHESTRA.
- 7—Piano Solo, "Silver Spring," Mason Mr. H. S. KROUSE.

D. A. & M. Society.

The directors of the D. A. & M. Society held another meeting last night, and transacted some important business relating to the coming fair. The following were some of the regulations adopted:

The Fair will be opened to the public at noon Monday, Oct. 3rd, 1881.

All exhibits, except live stock and flowers, should be on the Fair grounds by 6 o'clock p. m. Saturday, Oct. 1st.

The society will retain 25 per cent. on all premiums paid to competitors by the society. Rules and regulations to be observed by competitors for the special premium of fifty dollars offered by Geo. A. Meears for the best essay on "Utah, her Resources and Attractions."

Each essay entered for competition must be forwarded to the Board of Directors of the D. A. & M. Society on or before the 1st day of October next. Two initials will be selected and used by each contestant, so that the real name may not be known to the awarding committee until after the award is made; and that unsuccessful contestants need not be known to the public unless so desired by them.

In the appointment of a special awarding committee the board will select gentlemen of known ability in the several branches most likely to be presented by competitors.

F. Armstrong, Esq., was appointed to see the superintendents of the several railroads to secure special rates for exhibits and exhibitors.

TELEGRAPHIC

FRANCE AND TUNIS.

Frightful Mortality among the Soldiers.

London, 3.—Times' Paris: The elections were undoubtedly hurried in the belief that large reinforcements would be shortly sent to Africa, and no sooner are the elections over, than preparations for the dispatch of troops to Africa are apparent in all directions, although, according to calculations and opposition papers, fifty-nine battalions, each 500 strong, are already there, being one-sixth of the peace effective force. No body disputes, however, the necessity for these reinforcements. The Bey has lost all authority over the tribes and soldiers. Turcomen dare not stir out of the coast towns, and the cry of all unofficial telegrams are for more troops. Military newspapers assert that ambulances are crowded. Typhoid fever is raging. One battalion, which was 650 strong in July, is now reduced to 440. An equipage train has fifteen dead and twenty-five sick out of 140 men, and the mortality in some regiments, is 145 out of 1,000. It is evident that France will have to subjugate Tunis inch by inch. Persons acquainted with the country, allow three years for the operation. It is certain, that after four months occupation, French authority is now at the lowest point. In Algeria, also, the prospect is discouraging.

Tunis, 3.—It is believed that General Corred was fairly forced to retreat by the Arabs. The latter, now elated by success, threaten the other French column.

GRANT GRABBED.

Taken for a Country Chap.

Chicago, 3.—New York special: A stately man, with square shoulders, close-clipped, sandy beard, hurried out of the main entrance of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, yesterday, and started along Twenty-third street, toward the elevated railway. Two bunt men stood in the shadow of a cab horse and watched. Bunt No. 1 jumped from behind the hack, gazed at him for an instant, and then cried out, as his face fairly blazed with joy: "Mr. Farlington, of Hornellsville; how are you?" With this he seized the hand of the stocky party and wrung it as though it was his long lost brother. The stocky man shook him off and said "G'way! G'way! I don't know you." "What are you not Mr. Farlington, of Hornellsville?" "No, I ain't." "Well, this is a most astonishing resemblance. May I ask who you are?" "Yes, you may." "Well, who are you?" "I'm Gen. Ulysses S. Grant."

A Big Week.

Chicago, 3.—The clearings for the week were $90,500,000, which is more than double the usual amount, and is $35,000,000 greater than any previous week in the history of the city. This, of course, is exclusive of transactions between in which actual money changed hands, and does not include the transactions of private banking associations or those banks which do not belong to the clearing house association. The greater part of the increase is due to the gigantic operations of the successful wheat corner which culminated on August 31st, and the settlements made necessary thereby. General business has, however, shared in the activity, and gone to swell the total, which is all the more remarkable from coming in a summer month.

The Drouth.

Norfolk, 3.—The drouth continues. Distressing reports come from Virginia and many points of North Carolina. Reliable information shortens the tobacco and peanut crops nearly two-thirds, and the cotton crop of Virginia and North Carolina one-fourth. The crops west of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad are almost a total failure. Many Virginia farmers are selling stock for want of forage. People as well as animals are suffering for water, and corn and flour mills run by water are suspended. Fires in the lumber swamps are feared.

Made from Grape Cream Tartar. No other preparation makes such light, flaky breads or luxurious pastry. Can be eaten by dyspeptics without fear of the flat resulting from heavy indigestible food. Sold only in cans, by all Grocers.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

THE CABE MASSACRE.

How It All Came About.

San Francisco, 3.—The following has just been received from headquarters at Presidio; Mickey Free, an Indian who was at the fight, and came direct to San Carlos, says a medicine man was arrested by a lieutenant, supposed to be Cruse. The medicine man's brother said "you shall not arrest my brother," and killed Cruse. The troops then killed the medicine man. The enlisted scouts, close to the troops, then poured their fire into them, killing most of the officers and a great many men. Then the massacre took place. A few soldiers got away, holding together and trying to fight their way back to Apache, but it is supposed they must have been all killed, from the number stated by the Indians.

Three companies of the First Cavalry, Major Sanford commanding, and six companies of the Eighth Infantry, Lieutenant-Colonel Wilkins commanding, leave the Department of California immediately for the Department of Arizona.

(Signed) KELTON, A. A. G.

There is great activity in military circles to-day, in preparation for the departure for Arizona. It is understood that three companies of the Eighth Infantry at Angel Island, three companies of the Fourth Artillery at Presidio, two companies of the Eighth Infantry at Benicia, three companies at Fort Point and Hasbrooks' Battery, as cavalry, will be ordered at once to the front. In fact some of the companies are already under marching orders.

Great Britain and France.

London, 3.—The invitation of the Queen referred to by the Paris Temps yesterday in connection with the negotiations for an Anglo-French treaty of commerce, is the paragraph in relation to a treaty in the Queen's speech on the prorogation of Parliament, as follows: The commercial negotiations with France have been suspended, but I continue desirous on every ground to use my best efforts for the conclusion of a treaty on terms favorable to an extended intercourse between the two nations, to whose close amity I attach so great value.
